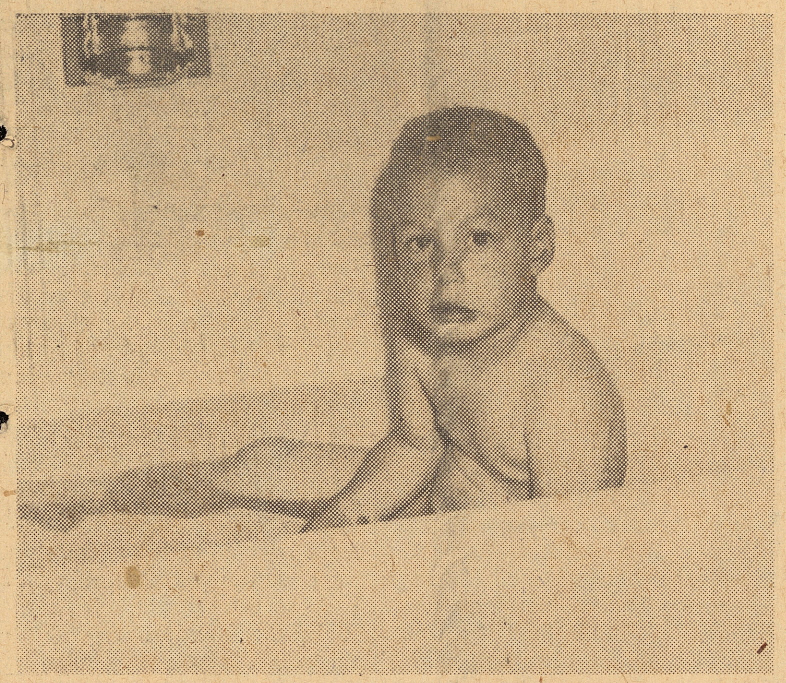
You Would Be Scared, Too!



You can't blame Scott for being scared. . .

After all, a seven-foot hole-in-the-ground is no place for an intrepid two-year old explorer to find himself upside down in.

And that's just where Scott Carter, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Carter, 1774 Palo Santo Drive in the Los Ranchitos area in Campbell, found himself last Thursday morning when he toppled headfirst into a hole that had been dug for new electroliers on his street.

The workmen who had dug the hole had not yet returned to place the pole when little Scott started on his solo exploration trip which was to come to such an abrupt and unexpected end.

Peering at the hole in the ground from close to its edge the little guy apparently lost his footing and tumbled face downward into its cavernous depths.

His mother and neighbors fortunately heard his cries and were soon on the scene. A ladder and rope were lowered which Scott had the presence of mind to grab onto and up he came, with the dirt mixing freely with tears.

Campbell police and firemen also responded but their services were unnecessary for Scott was already in his mother's arms by the time they arrived.

Covered with dirt and shaken, but otherwise little the worse for wear and tear as a result of his experience, the scared little boy was dunked almost immediately into the bath tub by his mother.

And that is where the Campbell Press photographer found him. (See above).

Hospital District Loses Territory

A portion of Campbell, half of the area within the city limits, was dropped by the board of directors from the West Valley Hospital District Tuesday night at the request of residents.

The section composed of about 3000 residents, is bounded by Hamilton and Leigh Avenues, San Jose-Los Gatos Road, and Dry Creek Road.

A petition bearing 504 signatures was acted on favorably by the board of directors and climaxed a number of heated sessions between board members and residents since its presentation in March.

A number of exclusion requests in the past year has caused the board to consider remapping the district, hire a public relations counsel to study boundaries and value of the present proposed site for the hospital.

The board also voted to make a request for state and federal funds for the hospital at the August hearing in Los Angeles.

On The Line in Campbell

Oscar Meyer, San Jose contractor, with a low bid of $91,775 was awarded the contract to build the seven-room educational wing of the First Methodist Church on Winchester Road. Bids were opened last Thursday and construction is expected to begin next week with the completion date in six months.

Planners O.K. New 'CM' Zone

When expected opposition to the highly restrictive "Controlled Manufacturing" zoning for Campbell's industrial area failed to materialize last Thursday night at the Planning Commission meeting, the Planners were somewhat taken aback but soon recovered and wasted no time in approving the new zone.

It now goes before the City Council where if the City Dads see it in the same light as the Planners it will be drafted into an amendment to the present city zoning ordinance.

Although a number of property owners in the industrial area being considered as a possible CM district were present at the public hearing, no shots were fired by them in the first skirmish as no particular area was involved.

It was apparent that they plan to hold their fire until efforts are made to apply the new zone to specific areas, particularly in the northern portion of the new industrial park at the south city limits.

Explains Petition

This was indicated when R. L. Townsend, one of the industrialists who plans to build in the industrial park, explained the reasons for the petition presented to the Commission by 28 property owners in the area. The petitioners had requested that the section of the park north of the leg of East Parr be zoned M-1-S (light industrial) with no restrictions as to lot size.

Townsend's explanation followed the announcement by Sam O'Brien, commission chairman, that the petition would be taken up at the time when the zoning was to be applied as the current discussion was only on the adopting of the type of zoning and not the location.

Townsend claimed that such action would cause more unnecessary delay and would inconvenience those, like himself, who wanted to develop their properties immediately.

Townsend's remarks provoked the only discord at the meeting.

Construction Starts Soon

American Trust Awards Contract

Construction of American Trust Company's new banking office here will be started in the next few days, Joaquin J. Payne, manager, announced Wednesday.

The new location, about two blocks west of the present one, will be a 147 by 150-foot site at the corner of Campbell Ave. and Second St.

Construction, which is expected to take about ten months, will be done by the Barnhart Construction Co., Santa Clara. Bids were opened and the contract awarded on Tuesday afternoon.

The building will extend 129 feet on Campbell Ave and 47 feet on Second Street, with the main entrance on Second. There will be another entrance providing direct access to an adjoining surfaced parking area with a 27-car capacity.

The ultramodern design will feature broad expanses of plate glass on three sides, satin-finish aluminum trim, and brown masonry. Columns and roof supports will be of unique exposed steel design. There wil be planting areas around the bank and in the parking area.

Of one-story and mezzanine construction, the main banking floor will have ten teller windows, three note windows, a statement window, and a safe deposit department with four coupon booths and a private conference room.

Facilities on the mezzanine will include a modern lunchroom and attractive lounges for the bank staff.

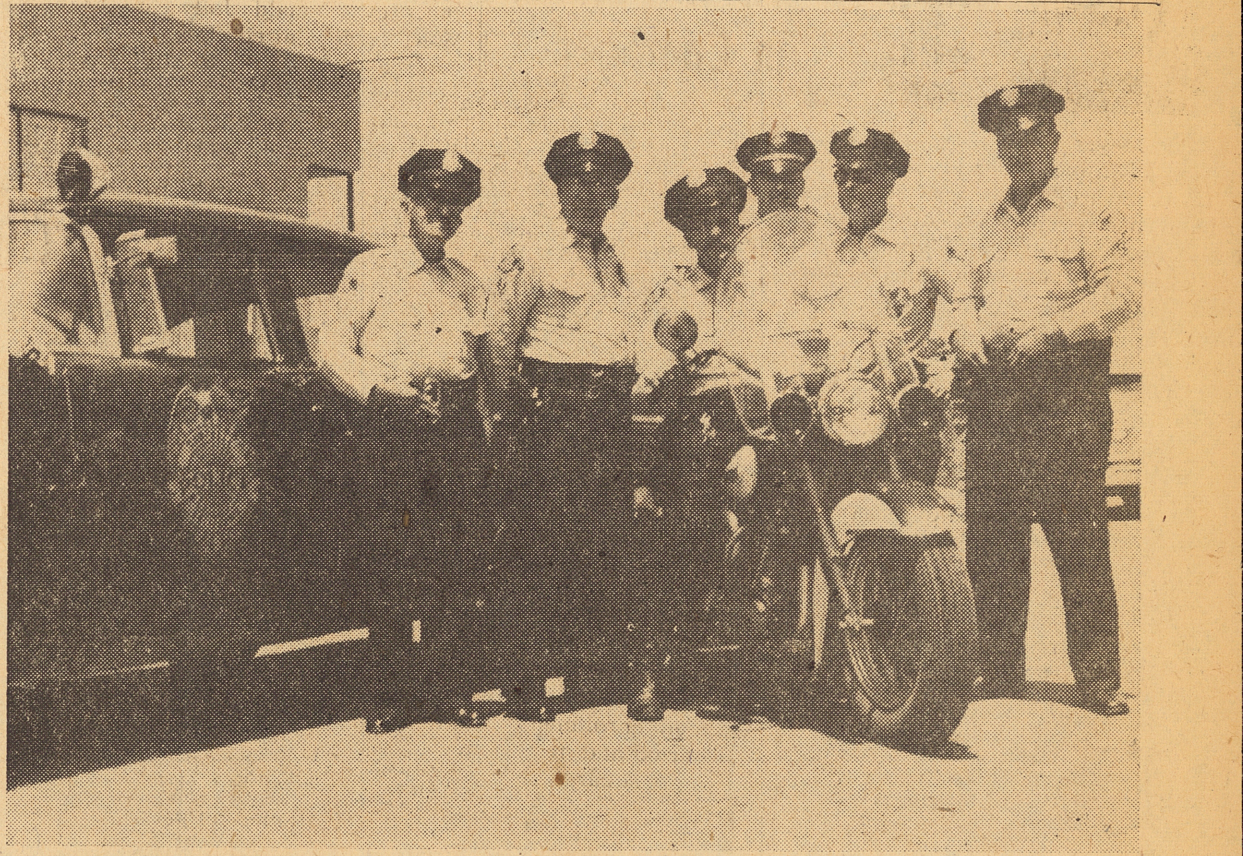
Fred J. Oehler, vice-president of American Trust in the San Jose area, said that the new Campbell office represents the third new building to be started by the bank within a month in Santa Clara County.

Work is already under way on new offices in the Stevens Creek area adjoining Santa Clara, and in the Stanford Industrial Center in South Palo Alto.

"With the completion of the three projects," said Oehler, "nine of the bank's eleven offices in the county will be established in modern quarters."

All nine of the offices have their own parking lots, five have drive-in depositories, and two have been designed for the later addition of drive-in facilities.

Oehler pointed out that "each banking office is a permanent building designed to enhance the appearance of the community it serves."



Police Reserves Name Officers

Rites Held For David Burridge

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Williams Funeral Chapel for David J. Burridge 73, who died Saturday in a San Jose hospital after a short illness. He made his home at 1235 Ridgeley Drive, Campbell.

Mr. Burridge had retired as chief engineer of the San Francisco Water Department in 1946 after 30 years service. He was a charter member of the San Jose Lapidary Society, and a member of Kincarcine Lodge No. 225, F& AM, Scotland.

He leaves his widow, Dicy, of Campbell; and a son George, of Oakland.

Interment was in Alta Mesa Cementary, Mountain View.

"I'm Mr. Brown's wife," said a brunette, introducing herself to a blond at a party.

"I'm his secretary," said the blond.

"Oh," said the brunette, arching her eyebrows slightly, "were you?"

Two Actions for Same Tract

Planners Approve Subdivision Map, Multiple Dwellings for Quito Rancho

City Planners in a two-fold action affecting the same property last Thursday approved a subdivision map for Quito Rancho (at San Tomas Road and Campbell Ave.) and okayed the plans for eight 8-unit multiple dwellings that are planned for the site.

The multiple dwellings will be built along La Pradera Drive which will connect with both Campbell Ave. and San Tomas Aquino Road. No plans were submitted for the market that is included in the overall picture for the development of the section which adjoins the Los Ranchitos tract.

Chairman Sam O'Brien cast the lone negative vote on both approvals. O'Brien maintained that multiple dwellings was not the proper zoning for the section. He felt that it should be all commercial.

In other actions, the Commission:

(1) Approved the Charles Rose subdivision map for the area at Latimer and Winchester. Approval had already been granted for the necessary zone changes.

From Milk to Gas

(2) Approved the application of H. Gordon Hunt for a garage and metal warehouse building on N. Winchester Road adjacent to the property owned by St. Lucy's Catholic Church and school. It was stipulated, however, that a 6-foot high wooden fence should be built between the church's property and Hunt's.

Hunt some time ago had received permission to erect a milk processing plant on the same location but informed the Commission that plans had fallen through for that. He explained that the warehouse would be used for his construction firm but that the front part of the lot would be leased for a service station and garage.

(3) Heard the request of F. E. Johnson, 347 W. Rincon Ave., for permission to build a one-family dwelling on three-fifths of an acre that is landlocked, It would mean a private road to it would have to be approved and the Commission suggested, inasmuch as this was contrary to the zoning ordinance, that Johnson secure professional assistance in trying to work out proper use for the land.

(4) Deferred action on the request for changes in the prior-approved plans for Sanitation District No. 4 for building on property in the new industrial park area at the south city limits.

The District asked that the side-yard footage be reduced from 25 to 20 feet and that parking be allowed at the front of the building.

Master Street Plan

(5) Directed Nestor Barrett, planning consultant, to bring in a tentative master street plan for the industrial park area at the next meeting. This was suggested by the office of Mark Thomas, city engineer, on direction of the City Council, based on numerous requests by potential industrialists and other property owners.

(6) Changed the meeting dates of the Commission from first and third Thursdays to first and third Tuesdays each month. The change will become effective July 2.

(7) Set July 2 and the hearing date for the change of zone requests of Evelyn Sylvia, Norman LaVeque and W. Hardwick, for three lots from single-family dwelling to multiple dwelling at Esther and Latimer.

More About

CM Zone

(Continued from page one) criticism concerning delays leveled by Townsend and said that "no one is being held up in any way. Least of all, Mr. Townsend.". Hewent on to say that the Commission had done everything in its power to speed up the machinery, even to the checking of building plans before the area had come into the city.

He also pointed out that annexed areas automatically come into the city as R-1 (residential) but that proinance to allow for a variance so that the property owner involved could start improving at once instead of waiting for the change of zone. He added that Townsend had already applied for a variance which would be acted on at the next meeting when the area was officially in the City.

Commissioner Les Harmon added that he felt that Townsend's criticism was unjust.

Townsend Apologizes

Townsend immediately apologized for any misunderstanding that may have arisen and agreed that deferrment of the petition until the discussion on the location of the zone would be satisfactory to the petitioners.

A representative of PG&E raised the question that the restriction as to noise in the CM zone might create a problem for his company. He was assured by Commissioner James Tomlinson, the commission expert on noise, that the restrictions followed those recommended by the foremost experts in the field and that no hardship would arise because of them.

The resolution was passed unamimously by the Commission on the motion of Commissioner Homer Hyde and seconded by Tomlinson, members of the committee that drew up the recommendation. It included a special section which would allow the City to regulate the building site areas in any particular area by designating the size at the time of zoning by specifying the square footage by symbol on the zone.

Minimum Lot Size

Under the restrictions in CM the minimum lot size is two acres but the resolution passed would allow the City to designate the lot sizes in all types of zoning and not be limited to CM.

It is anticipated that the two-acre minimum will evoke considerable opposition when the discussion comes up on where the new CM zone will be applied.

The schedule will run through July with the games played on Wednesday and Saturday. The baseball fields of Campbell High and Los Gatos High will be used on alternate days.

Babe Ruth leagures use the regular size diamonds (there are only two such diamonds in the Los Gatos-Campbell area) and players are in the 13-14-15 age brackets. Games will be of seven innings and are called for 6 p .m.

Comprising the Babe Ruth League are Burbank Lions, Avila Market, Cambrian Park and West Valley.

Wade Brummal is president of the league, John Doolittle, vice-president, Mrs. Virgil Campbell, secretary, Harold Sonntag, treasurer and Guy Troedsen, commissioner.

Cambrian Park is managed by John Ezzie, Burbank Lions by Rocci Vazzusi, West Valley by Ray Gamble and Avila's by Wickes.

Season Opens

In the double header opener on Saturday, Burbank Lions won from West Valley 4-1 while Avila's bowed to Cambrian Park 3 to 1.

Bud Fairbanks, Burbank Lions pitcher, showed promise in the opener, although he had a little trouble finding the plate, walking 11. He struck out 12, while only allowing three hits. Clark Ransom, West Valley hurler, charged with the loss, struck out eight but only issued three walks in allowing five hits.

Bob Rush of the Lions tripled in the fourth inning (the only extra base hit of the game) to account for the two runs which put the game away for all intents and purposes. The Lions scored in only the third and fifth innings while West Valley's lone marker came in the first inning when Perry Nelson tallied from third on a passed ball. He had been walked and got to second on an outfield error and advanced on Ransom's single.

More Hits, Less Runs

In the Cambrian Park-Avila battle, the Avilamen outhit Cambrian (four hits to one) but still lost the game by a 3-1 count. Morton of Avial banged out the only homer of the day in the sixth inning but poor fielding on the part of the market team lost the game. Christiana, althought pitching a one-hitter, is charged with the loss.

Others getting hits for Avila were Lyons, Papa and Johnson while Brasile, Cambrian right fielder, got the lone hit for his team. Kidwell, Cambrian left fielder, scored two of his team's three runs and Brasile got the other.

A dangerous long ball hitter, Randy adds power to the Brooklyn infield. Joining the Dodgers in a trade in '56, his timely hitting helped overcome the Braves in a final spurt to bring the pennant to Brooklyn. Before coming to the Majors, Randy has a fine Minor league record batting over .300 in 3 years.

'56 record: G 101; AB 307; R 37; H 84; HR 8; RBI 53; Avg. .274

Major League Totals: 7 yrs: G 799; AB 2835; R 383; H 756; HR 95; RBI 372; Avg. .267.

Eddie Robinson
Detroit Tigers, 1st Base

Heavy batting Ed came to Detroit in an 8 man deal last December. He's been elected to the A.D. All Star team 4 time and in two World Series has a handsome .348 Batting mark.

'56 totals: G 101; AB 226; R 20; H 46; HR 7; RBI 23; Avg. .204.

Major League Totals, 12 yrs.: G 1278; AB 4240; R 544; H 1139; HR 171; RBI 720; Avg. .269

Bobby Thomson
Milwaukee Braves, Outfield

When Bobby was with New York he unloaded the most dramatic homer in Polo Grounds History. In the final play-off game of '51 he clouted one into the seats in the 9th inning to win the pennant for the Giants. Bobby has made a wonderful come-back after suffering a triple fractured ankle in a 1954 exhibition game.

'56 record: G 142; AB 451; R 59; H 106; HR 20; RBI 74; Avg. .235

Merv Willoughby To Head Campaign Of United Givers

Merv E. Willoughby, 168 Hardy Ave., Campbell has been named chairman of the 1957-58 United Givers campaign in Campbell, it was announced this week.

Willoughby is connected with the New York Life Insurance Company with offices in San Jose. He is just completing a term as president of the Campbell Rotary Club.

The announcement came from Wilfred E. Steele, over-all United Givers campaign chairman for Central Santa Clara Valley.

The campaign which will get under way this fall will benefit the 30 Red Feather agencies serving the Valley in addition to the American Red Cross, Cancer Society, Heart Association, and the U.S.O.

Last year's United Givers fund-raising campaign in Central Santa Clara County netted $574,187 in behalf of the health, welfare and recreation services. Budget hearings on the agencies' needs will begin shortly Steele indicated, and the 1957-58 United Givers goal will be determined at the close of the hearings.

Recruitment of key personnel in Campbell to assist on the campaign is now going on, Willoughby said. Mrs. Helen Andres of the Campbell School district will be in charge of school solicitation again this year. Laurance Hill, Superintendent of the Campbell School district, who is presently president of the Boy Scout Council will also be assisting on the campaign. Hill is on the board of directors for United Givers' Plan, Inc.

OES Officers Use Japanese Theme For Gala Party

Dressed in Japanese costumes and carrying Japanese parasols, elective officers of Campbell Chapter 553, Order of Eastern Star, put on a play called "The Life Cycle of the Butterfly" at the June 7 meeting. Robert Kelly took the part of the butterfly.

The play was part of the program for a party themed "Kingdom of the Flowers" which elective officers gave for 212 members and guests last Friday evening.

For the evening, chapter rooms were decorated with branches of cherry blossoms with a large painting of Mt. Fujiyama and Japanese shrines placed in the East. Banquet tables carried out the theme with pastel colors, branches of cherry blossoms, and tiny parasols.

Chairman of the affair was Mrs. Adam Scholle. She was assisted by Mesdames Glen Seigner, L. E. Strikler, Cliff Gerlach, F. N. Johnson, James F. Miller, Harold Deach, Darrol Anderson, David Ribble, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelly.

Mrs. Harold Adams, worthy matron, and Fred Johnson, worthy patron, presided at the meeting which included guests from San Mateo, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz Counties.

CHEESE BUNS AND TEA FOR EVENING SNACK

Whether your preference is for a conventional grilled cheese sandwich or this new foil-wrapped version, a cup of really good tea adds to its enjoyment.

For best flavor, fresh tea is the first essential according to Tender Leaf Tea experts. Buy it fresh in a foil-wrapped package and keep it fresh at home in an airtight container.

To extract all the goodness from the fresh tea leaves, use a teapot and freshly-drawn cold water which has been heated to a full, rolling boil. Allow three to five minutes brewing time, depending upon the strength of tea desired.

These buns, especially suited for late-evening entertaining, can be filled, wrapped and stored in the refrigerator hours before guests arrive. They'll heat in a hurry while the tea is being brewed.

BAKED CHEESE BUNS

1 cup grated cheddar cheese
¼ cup tomato sauce
½ cup diced cooked bacon
⅓ cup diced black olives
⅛ teaspoon garlic salt
8 round burger buns

Combine cheese, tomato sauce, bacon, olives and garlic salt; mix well. Split burger buns crosswise without cutting all the way through; fill each with cheese mixture and wrap in a square of aluminum foil. Bake at 350 degrees 10 to 15 minutes or until cheese is melted. Serve in foil. Makes 8 servings.

CM . . . The Long-Range Viewpoint

Last Thursday night the Planning Commission took the first steps toward putting a new type of zoning on the books of the City of Campbell.

By Resolution No. 172, certain amendments to Ordinance No. 43 (the zoning ordinance) have been proposed by the Commission, and will now go before the City Council, as prescrbed law, to be written into the ordinance structure of the city, if the Council approves.

The amendments will provide for the establishment of a limited industrial park type of zoning within the framework of the existing ordinances. This addtional zoning district is to be known as a "Controlled Manufacturing District," and better known as the months go on as just plain old "CM".

Officially the new district is to be inserted between "C-2", general commercial district, and the "M-1", light industrial district.

Although no opposition has yet arisen over the actual adoption of the amendment to the present zoning structure of the city, (the Commission's action was taken without any objectons being voiced), the new zone presents a new type of thinking on the part of the City Planners. Consequently, before the zone is applied to any particular area, many objections will be forthcoming.

It is a highly restrictive type of industrial zoning. Its avowed purpose is to make an area attractive to certan types of industry that will benefit the entire community. The objective is to have an industrial park setup whereby industries that locate here will be required to have relatively high standards of performance in order that the quality of the community will be enhanced.

We consider the objectives commendable and feel that the efforts, study and research that have gone into the preliminary work of preparng the new type of zoning for Campbell have definitely been worth while. It will mean a great deal in the long-range planning of the area.

The restrictions included in the new zoning touch on many phases of the zoning picture. For example, 47 different types of industries are listed as permissible for CM. The list, however, is quite inclusive. In alphabetical order, it goes from "administrative, executive and financial offices" to "wood products, wholesale" and includes such categories as "broom manufacture and wholesale", "mattress, factory and wholesale", "pharmaceutical manufacture and wholesale" and even "publishing, printing, engraving and lithographing."

It spells out parking and loading areas: "all parking, loading and unloading shall take place in side or rear yards", "no parking lot and no parking of vehicles shall be permitted in any front yard."

It regulates height: "maximum building height permitted, 30 feet."

It stipulates the size of the yards: "front yard 25-feet and landscaped; side-yards, 25-feet, rear yard not less than 10 feet, etc."

It describes building coverage: ground floor area on any site shall not exceed 40 per cent of the total area of the site.

It regulates the type of signs. fences and construction (all plant buildings must be of concrete or masonry construction).

It even touches on such points as material storage, fire and exploson hazards, radioactivity and electrical disturbance, noise, vibration, smoke, odors and glare.

The second chapter deals with the building site area required. Under the amendment, the City will be able to specify the minimum size of the lots and this new chapter makes it possible not only to designate the size of the lots in CM, but in other types of zoning at the time any area is zoned.

As you will note, the listed restrictions are severe, yet, if carried out, will assure only top-flight operations in the industrial park and we feel that the city and the residents in the long run will be the gainers by it.

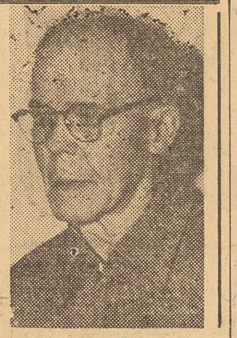
We fully realize that such a zone can only be applied to certain areas.

Thus care must be taken in its application.

Nevertheless, we maintain that it provides a base that will eventually pay off, if all of us have the patience to see the "big picture" and are not swayed by what is going to happen within the hour.

It is long-range planning, we will admit. But sometimes long-range thinking or planning is the shortest way to reach a given objective.

Over the Years



By John D. Blaine

News that the building once C. H. Whitman's hardware store (the Carl Field building last occupied by the Campbell Hardware) is about to be wrecked takes my thoughts back over the years when I first knew "Chauncey," whom I never called that to his face.

Nor did I ever hear anybody else call Chauncey that to his face. For Chauncey was first of all dignified. He was tall, erect, with handsome features set off by well-trimmed mustache and pointed chin whiskers, dignified in any man's company.

Moreover he represented in his person the very highest ideals of his time. I almost blush to mention some of those ideals. Smoking by "respectable" women was virtually unknown in Campbell. Respectable men smoked but Chauncey did not. He was a personal prohibitionist before prohibition became a law. He probably never took a "drink" in his life. And he had other high ideals to match.

Perfect Mate

His wife was a perfect mate for him. She, too, was dignified and high-minded. She was best known in Campbell for her prominence in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. And she lived to see her cause apparently triumph.

But as a mate she was far more than I have yet suggested. Chauncey liked to discuss ideas and high ideals. From all reports she was a perfect listener. Never was she too tired or busy to give attention to what her husband had to say.

And Chauncey said plenty. For him the chief use of his waking breath was for verbal self-expression. Some people he bored, but never his wife. And these two lived together to see idealism come to flower as never before in American history or since.

C. H. Whitman, whom I am calling Chauncey mainly for convenience, provided Campbell with its first hardware and plumbing service. He set up for business well back before 1900. But no ordinary purveyor of these services was he. And in 1927 he was associated with one of the most astonishing developments of idealism of our time or of any time.

Before me as I write is a newspaper clipping dated Feb. 5, 1927. This clipping is headed with Chauncey's handsome face, and underneath are these thoughts:

"Old Settlers' Day this year and henceforth will not be merely Campbell Old Settlers' Day. It will be Santa Clara County Old Settlers' Day. And all the communities of the county will hereafter conduct their celebrations in this cooperative spirit."

If you think I've gone crazy and missed the meaning let me add this clincher: "These community affairs have brought better results than in the old way when each town boosted its own selfish interests."

And Santa Clara County Old Settlers' Day in Campbell really happened on February 22 of this 1927. I believe that Mrs. Bessie Kennedy, prominent in community affairs, was chairman of publicity for the day and had obtained cooperation of various communities through their local committees. The day was a grand success.

The morning program was in the auditorium of our grammar school. Chauncey Whitman was on the reception committee and sat in the entrance. He took signatures of arriving old settlers, not only of Campbell but of the county. Old Settlers were there from as far away as Gilroy.

Chanucey was so smiling and handsome, happy in his idealistic element. Idealism had bloomed. What has become of it?

Already this country was caught up in its stock gambling lunacy. Late in 1929 came the stock market crash. Soon we were in the start of the great depression and business men of this country were scared white.

Herbert Hoover elected in 1928 as a President almost too good to be true was in the next election politically lynched. It had been said that "prohibition" would be impossible to repeal. But under the leadership of FDR prohibition was repealed in short order.

True, the saloon was never to come back. Advertising of liquor was never to come back. Are these things back? And does California lead the nation in chronic alcoholism? I have heard so.

About 1935 Chauncey Whitman died, idealistic in his way to the last.

County Bickering

Had he lived he would have seen this county at war within itself by means of the strip annexation system. And he would have seen the effort of San Jose to swallow the county by means of the borough system.

And he would have seen that idealistic community cooperation of 1927 not only forgotten but almost impossible to believe.

But I was here and knew Chauncey Whitman personally. And I saw that idealistic community cooperation of 1927 with my own eyes.

Perhaps remembering this man and this event in this column will have some historic value.

OUT on the LIMB

with George Vierhus

One of those rare coincidences in names that is good for a chuckle is taking place on Railway Ave. in Campbell.

Now under construction is the building that will house the "City Sheet Metal".

It is located directly across the street from a similar operation which has been in Campbell for some time, namely, "County Sheet Metal".

Now if another sheet metal company would open up near by and call itself the "State Sheet Metal Co.,"— — — —

We can see that the situation could easily become a wee bit confusing.

Next would be the "National" then "International" then "Global" and then, who knows, "Satellite" to take care of the space-ships and stuff like that.

—o—

Mayor John M. Chargin at a recent City Council meeting was deploring the fact that council meetings as a rule are poorly attended by citizens of the city unless something was coming up at the meeting that directly affects them.

He made the comment in answer to the criticism from a particular group of residents who felt it was an imposition to have to return again to the council meeting in order to have their particular problem (Nelson Bros. Trucking) cleared up.

John agreed with the peopde that it is too bad that the matter had to be deferred but he felt that more people should attend the meetings and learn what was going on as far as the government of their city was concerned.

In the audience at the time were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Simmons of Winchester Road, who have long opposed the setback plan (15-feet instead of 25-feet) for Winchester Road that is in the process of being adopted after months of discussion by official city bodies.

The setback question now in its final stages (the ordinance is all ready for adoption) was also postponed until another meeting.

In hearing that they would have to return once again, Mrs. Simmons told the Council that she didn't think the mayor's comment about citizens not attending the council meetings applied to her.

"I've attended so many meetings," Mrs. Simmons remarked, "that when the roll for the councilmen is called I feel that I should answer."

Vince Vallelunga, of Vince's Food Center has reported an incident that occurred in his market that clearly shows that most people are basically honest.

He said that one of his customers recently reported to the checker that she had found a roll of currency on the floor of the market. The roll totalled $50, which, despite inflation, is still a good-sized wad of dough in any language.

Vince hastily checked his cash (he thought perhaps it had dropped out of his bank deposit book) but found that, darn the luck, anyway, it did not belong to the market.

So he told his cusomer to take the money home and hold it for a while.

Later the same day a very distraught customer asked Vince whether he had heard of anyone finding $50 in currency in the store. The worried woman was near tears as she had discovered her loss when she had reached home and had been retracing her steps all day.

Vince was happy to tell her that the lost had been found and gave her the name of the customer who had the green stuff.

We like this story. For some reason it made us feel pretty good, although our own money was not involved.

We sorta drew a mental picture of the happy but tearful reunion of the gal and her money and we betcha the person who found the dough felt pretty good about it too, even if she had probably wistfully hoped and mentally dreamed of being able to get that new dress she had been putting off buying for such a long time.

—o—

We have learned from our efficient woman's editor, Vivian Faulkner, of some party-crashing escapades in town last weekend.

We certainly did not like what we heard.

It is difficult for us to understand the mental gyrations that must go on in the warped minds (and we use the word "mind" loosely) of these youths who persist by their actions to cast a stigma on ALL teen-agers.

After some of their antics during the weekend which we learned first-hand from Vivian, we find that we keep repeating, "How did they get that way?"

We have staunchly defended the teen-agers in the past and we will continue to do so in the future but it is a crying shame that some of the bad apples are spoiling things in so many ways.

One newspaper described the recent trial scene of the hoodlums up the Peninsula who disgraced themselves and their families by beating up a group of Stanford students, of "crew-cuts versus duck-tails".

A group of "duck-tails" from Gilroy recently jumped on a local man who was on an outing with his family and friends. The young thugs, who outnumbered the others about six to one (apparently this is their minimum ratio used tire irons and chains in their attack.

We are pretty disgusted with the antics of these would-be toughs who cry for help unless they outnumber the other side by a big proportion and who have no idea, and care less, about fighting fair. They are lost without knives, clubs, chains or their gangs.

Fortunately for the country the clean-cut youth still vastly outnumber the "hoods" today. But we still can't help burning over "how did those others get that way?"

We wish we could find out and then do something about it.

REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS
TENTH DISTRICT, CALIFORNIA

A three dollar bill is a real "phony" but certainly no more so than some of the budget "cuts" which Congress "points to with pride".

There are two types of legislation which concerns expenditure of money. One is called an authorization bill and the other is an appropriation. The former creates a government program which the President is obligated to administer. Naturally, his next budget must ask for funds to continue the program which the law, written by Congress, authorizes. Here is where an appropriation comes in. I don't think it's necessary to point out that if you want to cut an appropriation, the first thing to do is cut authorizations.

Congress has been pointing the finger at the President and making a lot of noise about the great cuts in the very program which it authorized. Still, Congress goes blithely on authorizing this and that the same as it always has. Look at the recent housing bill as an example. The main reason for a housing bill was to grant a much needed decrease in FHA down payments and bring other housing programs up-to-date. Before the House and Senate were finished with this bill, they had voted new spending authority of one billion six hundred million more than the President requested. This won't be reflected in the budget and at home this Fall some Congressman can "point with pride" to the slashed budget while neglecting to mention the increased authorization.

Until May 21 Congress had slashed $1,400,000,000 from the budget in just one bill had authorized $1,600,000,000 in extra funds, for a net increase of 200 million.

The Defense Department Appropriation has been advertised at a two and one-half billion cut. Less than a billion of this is a real cut; the rest is a matter of a simple bookkeeping transaction. Furthermore, some of the programs which have been slashed will be restored next year in supplemental bills which will slide through unnoticed after the "heat is off". A look at the record will prove my point. Since 1948 there has not been a single year when the Congress did not appropriate more money than asked for by the President. In fact, the average by which Congress has upped presidential requests is three billion seven hundred million per year.

It is true that the current "economy" drive has done some good. It has made government departments cost conscious and has resulted in some belt tightening. But the real chance for economy has been hidden in a cloud of dust. If we mean what we say (and I do) we'll take this phony three dollar bill and make a legitimate two dollar note out of it. And then we'll proceed to cut off its corners. The way to cut corners, in my opinion, is to stop authorizing. If we do, appropriations won't be necessary.

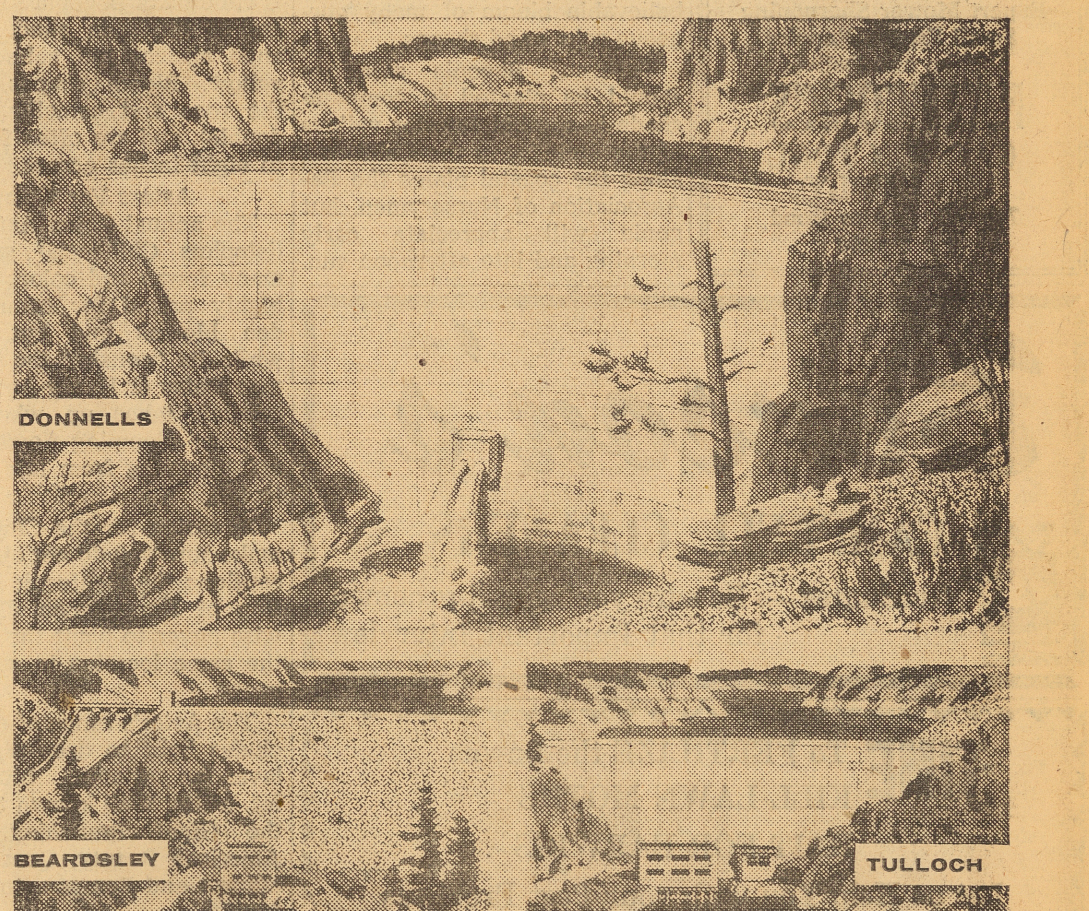
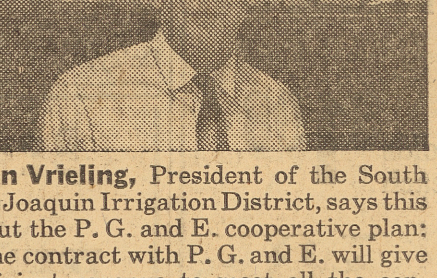
NEW TRI-DAM

How P. G. & E. works with farmers in the great Tri-Dam Project on the Stanislaus River . . . to bring more water and electricity to California



On the Stanislaus River, three big dams are nearing completion—a joint project of the Oakdale and South San Joaquin Irrigation Districts, to be dedicated June 15. The Tri-Dam Project means a lot of new irrigation water for the Oakdale, Manteca, Ripon, Escalon and Riverbank areas. On its way to the fields, the water will turn electric generators, producing enough electricity to supply 145,000 homes. P. G. and E. will distribute the power, paying the Irrigation Districts $115,000,000 for it over a 45-year contract period. This revenue pays for the three dams and powerhouses. Thus a vast new source of irrigation water is provided FREE. And P. G. and E. gets another source of power to serve the growing needs of its customers. P. G. and E. has business arrangements like this with a number of other water development projects in Northern and Central California. And everyone benefits.



John Vrieling, President of the South San Joaquin Irrigation District, says this about the P. G. and E. cooperative plan: "The contract with P. G. and E. will give sufficient revenue to meet all the construction, operating and maintenance costs of the project. So the additional water made available to the land owners is free at the canal. And I believe it's a good arrangement for P. G. and E., too, because it provides the Company with another source of power. It's a good deal all around."

Everyone benefits from these time tested joint-development water projects. They help assure plenty of power for growing California, help you live better electrically.

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

REMINDERS

1. Container grown shade trees can be safely transplanted at this time.

2. Divide and replant overcrowded Bearded Iris.

3. The whole garden can be freed of earwigs. ants and lawn moths with an application of Chlordane or Dieldrin.

4. Do not remove the leaves of spring flowering bulbs, such as Tulips and Daffodils, until they have died naturally.

5. Bedding plants will provide quick garden color. Here are a few of the many to plant: Marigolds, Lobelia, Ageratum, Petunias, Asters and Zinnias.

Fuchsias

The Fuchsia is undoubtedly one of the most popular garden subjects in California today—and for many good reasons. It is hardy, easy to care for, a prolific bloomer and is available in a wide range of varieties.

Five new Fuchsia varieties typify the colorful beauty of this deciduous shrub, sometimes called a herbaceous perennial. Among the newest Fuchsias are Thunderbird, a trailing variety blooming in shades of rose and vermillion; Bluebird, violet blue and white Lunado, upright (but it can be grown in a hanging basket if pinched), rose pink and purple; Royal Robe, dark purple, white and pink; Sweet Leilani upright, rose pink, smoky blue. Sweet Leilani will also cake in the valley heat.

The natural habitat of the Fuchsia is an area of coolness, humidity and shade. In California, these ingredients can be found along the coast. However, they can also survive in the interior valleys of the state through the use of lath protection, by planting under spreading trees, sprinkling overhead on hot days.

Fuchsias can be grown in the ground in mass plantings, as accent plants, espalier subjects, trees, hedges, foundation plants, vines and ground cover; they are attractive and healthy as boxed specimens, in tubs or hanging baskets. In fact there's little you can't do in planting the Fuchsia, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

Cultural requirements of the Fuchsia are not demanding. They prefer an acid soil. A suggested planting mixture is ¼ leaf mold, 1/8 peat moss, 1/8 well-rotted cow manure and ½ light garden loam, all mixed together thoroughly and allowed to stand for a week or so before planting time. Water thoroughly and very reguarly, making sure the soil you plant in drains well. During the bloom season a medium sized Fuchsia will need watering every other day in mild climates, every day in hot; in all climates will benefit from overhead sprinkling every other day.

Fertilize cautiously for the Fuchsia is a real glutton. In spring and fall apply leaf mold; in spring a one to two inch mulch of cow manure mixed with the leaf mold, half and half, should be applied; every month from April to September, apply fish emulsion.

Tuberous Begonias

A rainbow of colors will brighten the shady areas of your garden when you plant Tuberous Begonias. This blub flower has been developed into an unbelievable bloom of many gorgeous colors and shapes.

Tuberous Begonia seedlings should be planted in complete shade in the hot interior valleys of the state, says the California along the coastal plains the Be-Association of Nurserymen, but gonia will appreciate early morning and late afternoon sun.

THUNDERBIRD FUCHSIA

Pacific Plant Growers, Colma

A flower cluster of a new Fuchsia for 1957, by Horace Tiret. This trailing variety has rose-colored sepals and double petals of vermillion.

Plant Begonias as showpieces—against evergreen shrubbery, as carpets under trees, in handsome redwood containers, raised beds. They can even be successfully combined with other flowers such as dwarf border plants. With ferns, Begonias are in natural association for both plants appreciate the same growing conditions.

In caring for Begonias don't overdo the watering; Begonias should always be in moist soil, not soggy. Make sure the area you plant in drains well. Planting mixture of peat moss, leaf mold and sand or leaf mold, loam and manure will assure good drainage. An acid or neutral type fertilizer will give results. If the leaves are light green and turn upward it's time to feed; don't feed if the leaves are dark green and turn down. On warm days overhead spraying will achieve the humidity that the Begonia needs.

Tuberous Begonia seedlings are available in shades of orange, apricot, red, salmon, pink, yellow. Bloom shapes include the rose and camellia (ruffled double), and are often from five to eight inches across.

Asters For Color

The annual China Aster, (Callistephus Chinensis) grows in many forms and colors that are highly prized for summer garden blooms and cut flowers while its "cousin" the Michaelmas Daisy or Hardy Aster, a perennial, takes up when other summer blooming flowers leave off, blooming from late summer to fall.

In caring for the China Aster make sure you do not overwater, cautions the California Association of Nurserymen. It is also wise never to plant the Aster in the same location in successive years.

The Aster's range of colors includes light to deep pink, rose, lavender, crimson, blue, scarlet, white. Well known types are the Giant Branching, Crego, American Beauty, Queen of the Market and Pompon, to name a few.

The Michaelmas Daisy is hardy in all areas and likes the sun. Avoid overwatering it and divide the clumps each year; tall varieties need to be staked. The Hardy Aster is a wonderful border plant in its low-growing forms and the tall varieties make fine background plantings for other flowers; others do well in rock gardens. There are a hundred or so named varieties in this group; colors run from crimson through the pastel pinks, blues and white, to purple, with yellow or orange centers. Species include the New England Aster, New York Aster, Wonder of Stafa, Bushy Aster and Alpine Daisy.

Bright Ideas

EVEN THE PLAINEST VEGETABLES take on a party air when you give them a simple crunchy nut topping. Try sprinkling chopped walnuts on top of cauliflower au gratin before slipping it under the boiler; mix slivered almonds with melted butter to pour over tender-cooked carrots. Give Harvard beets a crunchy texture by adding chopped almonds or pecans just before serving; put small pieces of butter and broken walnuts on the top of mashed sweet potatoes in a casserole. Now there's a new line of five different kinds of nuts, all vacuum-packed in handy resealable cans, that make it easy to dress up vegetable dishes.

THOUGHTS OF SUMMER DRIVING PLEASURES cause many people . . . who would like to buy a car but haven't the money to pay for one outright . . . to finance their new auto with outside help. So here are a few tips to consider when buying a car with a bank loan. Experienced car buyers often talk to their bank before even selecting a new auto. Knowing just how much financial assistance they can get helps them to decide exactly what kind of car they can afford. Another smart idea is to have your insurance agent arrange with your bank to include car insurance in your monthly payments to the bank. Then, you have all your major auto costs in one neat, pay-as-you-go package.

MAKE A PIE, frost or fill a cake with this versatile gelatin recipe. For a delicious new flavor treat, use blackberry gelatin. Dissolve 1 package of the vitamin C gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Slowly add hot gelatin mixture to 3 beaten egg yolks, than add ⅛ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. While this mixture is chilling, beat 3 egg whites until foamy. Add ¼ cup sugar to the whites and beat until stiff. Fold into thickened gelatin. Pile mixture into graham cracker pie crust and chill about 3 hours. Or use the gelatin mixture to frost a 9-inch bakery angel food cake. You can also make a surprise filling for an angel food cake with this mixture. Cut a 1-inch layer from top of cake and remove center of cake leaving 1-inch shell at bottom, outside and inside edge. Fill shell with gelatin mixture, cover with top cake layer and frost with whipped cream. Then chill for about 3 hours.
